Returns

1. Astriðr i Hlymriki - New Device

Per chevron embattled sable and argent, three hibiscus flowers argent and an owl gules.

This device is being returned for a redraw and blazoning. The flowers need to be corrected in position. If the client is going for in chevron the outer two need to be lowered, to more reflect the line of division. If the client wishes for them to be in fess they need to be raised to be in line with the center flower. The blazon needs to include whichever position the submitter chooses.

2. Bronwyn Hewlett -New Device

Argent, on a pile inverted throughout sable five billets in pale Or, in canton a book proper, overall a double-bitted axe bendwise sinister purpure.

This device is being returned for redraw and reblazoning. An open book takes its tincture contrast from the pages, not the outer binding. Being argent this has poor contrast with the field. One option would be to use a closed book. They would need to make sure that the emblazon listed the book as sable, (as the current blazon shows), and not proper. The tincture of a book proper is brown. This would add another color to complexity count making it nine. Eight is max for complexity. { five tinctures , (with brown) + four charges =nine}.

3. AElfric Ecgeling -New Device

Or, on a cross vert, a satyr sable, pizzled gules, maintaining in his sinister hand a quill pen azure

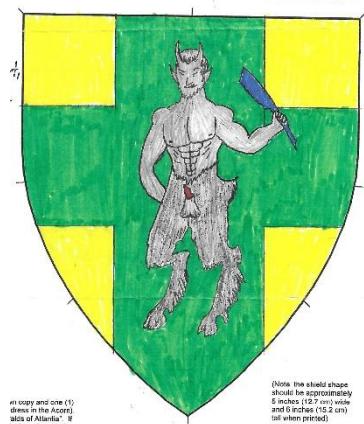

This device is being returned for several reasons:

The first is that there was no accompanying line drawing submission with the colored submission for this device. This is required by the College of Heralds.

The second is that that the satyr is sable and had poor contrast with the vert cross, color on color. This could be corrected by making the cross smaller and having the satyr overall which would be acceptable as an overall charge takes it's contrast from the field. Another would be to make the satyr argent which would contrast with the cross as metal on color.

The third is the quill pen. Neither tertiary or overall charge can maintain another charge. It was suggested that the quill could be put in canton, (dexter chief).

The forth is the pizzle. While the SCA College of Heralds has registered animals pizzled, the charge here is considered as humanoid. Plus the fact the pizzle is colored different may add to fact to make it being viewed as offensive. The final decision for that would rest with Laurel at the College of Heralds, but the submitter should be aware that it could be returned for that reason.

There are no Pends for this letter.
